"I would recommend this option to anyone."

Lynne

For some customers, getting an interview is just the start of the process. If you haven't had an interview for a while, how do you present yourself?

We work in partnership with Smart Works who provide quality, work appropriate outfits, styling advice and interview coaching. They help women to feel confident, look great, succeed at their job interview and move on with their life.

Our customer Lynne, who was referred to Smart Works by Silva Homes, said this about her experience:

"It was very interesting and enlightening. It answered my questions and helped me understand the questions they might ask me at the interview, and also helped me with my fears about certain points."
